More Dust Than Digital Films is in search of an intern for one week from December 14th thru December 20th, with the possibility of extending the internship into 2010. Course credit is available for UW students through the Communications School.

Project Overview

Our production team will be shooting and editing documentary footage from the United Nations Climate Conference in Copenhagen that focuses on Washington State’s role in this global issue. We will be sending the video files back to the States as live video updates from the event.

We need someone who is interested in social networking and must be proficient with the following platforms: Facebook, Twitter, YouTube, and Vimeo.

During the week, your tasks would include downloading the emailed H.264 QuickTime video files and uploading them to YouTube and Vimeo. Then you will need to distribute the videos with accompanying text through the various social networking platforms.

How to Apply

If this sounds like an interesting project, please email a short note and resume along with your contact information to: austin@moredust.com by Dec.7th.

I will be setting up individual interviews for next week.

We look forward to working with you.

Thanks,

Austin
