Summer Internships at The Seattle Times and seattletimes.com

Look inside for details.
Next summer, you could be paid to train in your chosen profession at the Northwest’s leading news organization. Every year, The Seattle Times and seattletimes.com offer paid summer internships to outstanding students pursuing a journalism career. For 10 weeks, interns attend weekly training sessions with members of The Seattle Times’ Pulitzer Prize-winning staff and work on a variety of assignments. Each intern receives a skill-development plan and guidance from a staff mentor. It all adds up to invaluable experience at a quality metropolitan newspaper and website.

Qualifications
Internships are open to sophomores, juniors, seniors or graduate students attending a four-year college or university. Applicants must have a demonstrated commitment to print or online journalism. Internship experience at other news organizations is a plus.

Application Deadline: November 1, annually, for the following summer.

Application Format: All applications must be received by e-mail to newsinternships@seattletimes.com. Résumés and cover letters should be attached as Word documents or PDFs.

For more information: Check out the Web link at www.seattletimescompany.com/newsroom/summer.htm.

E-mail: newsinternships@seattletimes.com

Contact: Newsroom Hiring Coordinator
The Seattle Times
206/464-2414

Requirements

Reporting
- Cover letter, including a description of your reasons for entering the news profession
- Résumé
- Names of three references familiar with your work
- Five samples of your reporting work, preferably attached as Word files
- Applicants must have a car

Copy Editing
- Cover letter, including a description of your reasons for entering the news profession
- Résumé
- Names of three references familiar with your work
- Applicants must have strong language skills and some editing experience
- Finalists will take a copy-editing test

Graphics
- Cover letter
- Résumé
- Names of three references familiar with your work
- 10 PDFs of infographics, illustrations or clips (in addition to — but not in place of — the PDFs, you may provide online links to portfolio work or multimedia work samples)
- Applicants must have strong computer and design skills. Adobe Illustrator skills strongly desired.

Multimedia
- Cover letter
- Résumé
- Names of three references familiar with your work
- Links to five samples of your audio, video and/or print work
- Digital video editing skills required, i.e. Final Cut Pro, Adobe Premiere or equivalent
- Familiarity with Web publishing, social media and other Web technologies preferred
- Applicants must have a car

Photojournalism
- Cover letter
- Résumé
- Names of three references familiar with your work
- 20 or fewer images with a link to your online portfolio
- Applicants must have a car and equipment

The Seattle Times is a drug-free workplace.

Locally owned. Uniquely Northwest.

The Seattle Times
seattletimes.com